AD-SELL LEAGUE

PLANS EXHIBIT

Will Show Examples of All Forms of Advertising at Next Dinner.

Advertising promoted by advertising men of northern Indiana will be displayed elaborately at a big exhibit to be conducted by the Ad-Sell League at the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, May 3. The exhibit will show the work being done by the members of the league in boosting products of this territory, some of which are among the best known in the country. Every form of advertising will be shown in the exhibit.

The display will be in charge of Horace Fox, chairman of the educational division of the Ad-Sell League. It will be a part of the regular monthly meeting of the club. A banquet will be served in the gymnasium of the Chamber of Commerce building. Two excellent addresses will be on the program in addition to the display. The latter promises to be the biggest thing of the kind ever shown in South Bend. Announcements of the display and dinner were sent out today by John E. DeLafayette, secretary of the league, who will accept reservations immediately for the event. It is expected about 100 persons can be accommodated.

In addition to Chairman Fox and W. K. Lampert, president of the league, many others are hard at work to make the local advertising exhibit a success. F. L. Sullivan has charge of the retail advertising division; E. W. Reed, graphic arts; S. A. Winchell, public utilities; Gilbert Dunklin, national advertising; W. E. Bryan, outdoor publicity; Irvyn S. Dolk, publications, and W. R. Armstrong, publicity.

The upper part of the Chamber of Commerce gymnasium is expected to be ideal for the holding of such an exhibit, which caused the decision to hold the meeting of the league there instead of at the Oliver hotel, the regular meeting place. Parts of the exhibit will be placed about the track in the balcony of the gymnasium. The display will run entirely around the large room, and in addition other advertising features will be placed on the main floor, where the banquet will be served. Dr. A. Clark will be in charge of serving the dinner.

The program of addresses will include J. B. Sharp, a former South Bend man who has risen to the top in the advertising profession; and Frank Holslag of Notre Dame university, who has only recently returned from 15 months of life in the war trenches of Europe. F. E. Kier of Chicago will give a talk on the great national advertising convention at Philadelphia in June. Mr. Sharp was formerly in the advertising department of the Studebaker corporation in this city. He is now advertising manager of the DeLaval Separator company of New York, and enjoys a wide reputation as a public speaker. Mr. Holslag of Notre Dame will speak on the advertising methods used by the great powers engaged in the European conflict.

Two men were sentenced to the state penal farm by Judge Herbert D. Warner in city court Thursday morning. Steve Kriztaszki, 1944 W. Dunham st., will spend six months at the institution for child and wife desertion while Morton Jones, having been fined $100 and costs and given a 30-day term.

According to witnesses Kriztaszki is a non-provider, and a drunken loafer. His wife testified that he has beat both her and her children often and refused to work. She also testified that her husband has been drunk most of the time. Miss Lella Scott of the Associated Charities testified that the family has been supported for the past three years to a great extent by various organizations in the city. She told the court that one of the children came to the Associated Charities office during February and was asked if her father was working.

"Why the never works," was the little girl's reply.

Miss Scott said that Kriztaszki spent most of his time warming his toes around the fire that his wife provided by working out every day. There are five children in the family. Richard Dobe of the township trustee's office testified that the township has been helping the family.

Why the never works," was the little girl's reply.

PAVING SUIT TO BE DECIDED FRIDAY

Judge Funk Reserves Judgment After Hearing Evidence in Controversy.

Just which side of the Michigan st. paving controversy has the most supporters will be decided by Judge Walter A. Funk Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Incidentally the court will decide whether the board of works has a right to enter into a contract for the pavement of the business thoroughfare between LaSalle av. and South st. with sheet asphalt, or whether they violated the statute in granting the contract for asphalt in face of a petition for brick.

Stimmed down to a final analysis, the paving suit means a mere counting of noses. The resident property owners are the ones entitled to a vote on the kind of pavement. Each side claims the majority. Judge Funk will, however, settle the matter for the time being by granting a temporary injunction restraining the works board from letting the contract, or he will dissolve the present temporary restraining order against the board.

The hearing began at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Affidavits of resident freeholders were filed by attorneys representing both the brick and asphalt petitioners. On the brick side, the petitioners' counsel agreed as to which "side of the fence" they were on.

The much mooted question as to whether corporations owning property on Michigan st. are entitled to the right to vote as to the kind of pavement to be used was being argued yesterday afternoon. The statute governing the qualifications of the majority resident freeholders empowered to petition for certain kind of pavements does not provide specifically for corporations.

Board in Majority. Attorneys for the city aver that even should the court not permit corporations to vote in choosing the kind of improvement, the works board will still have the majority on its side. Following is the list of freeholders and the manner in which they were lined up after the opening bomb:

Brick petitioners—Clarence Edwards, Arthur O. Ort, Mrs. Grace Ort, L. W. Lower, George F. Kerner, Mrs. Maria Collier, John H. Mitchell (challenged), Ideal Laundry Co., Frank Collier.

Asphalt petitioners—Mrs. Margaret Kilmer, Adele M. Bickford, Mrs. Frances E. Butterworth, Rustie Poleodor, R. Vernon Maurer, Fred G. Collier (challenged), Dr. S. L. Kilmer, Charles Butterworth, William Butterworth, Chicago, South Bend & Northern Indiana R. R. Co., American Trust Co., Charles C. Deffen, Merchants' National bank, Mrs. Cornelia Dolph.

The challenges are made against the various petitioners on several grounds. The plaintiffs (the brick petitioners) hold that the corporations are not entitled to vote, while the works board challenged the vote of Frank Collier, as his property is "L" shaped, he living on Monroe st., while the strip of land owned by him fronting Michigan st. is used in the rear for garage purposes. Dr. Kilmer's vote is challenged on the ground that the property is held in Mrs. Kilmer's name and not jointly. Various other grounds are also used for the challenges.

Emma Foster. Funeral services for Emma Foster will be held from the Orvis chapel Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. John Alexander of the First Christian church will officiate. Burial will be in the City cemetery.

Hold Runaway Youths. Two Hartford, Conn., boys are picked up by police.

They were picked up on variance charges Monday night after having left a freight train out of Chicago. The boys stated that they left home about four weeks ago and since have worked for short periods in Detroit and Cleveland.

50 At Healthwin. There were 50 patients at Healthwin hospital, St. Joseph church tuberculosis camp, during the month of April, according to a report filed by Dr. James A. Durkan, superintendent, with the board of county commissioners. Collections from these patients during the month totaled $302.
